Dear Sir: Re: artist FRANK D. Fousek

My brother, Frank D. Fousek, was an entrant in the Annual May Show for several years during the mid thirties to early forties. He had won some prizes. Had worked for the Works Project Adm. during the depression art period. He was transferred to Washington, D.C. by his employer in 1942. I'm enclosing 2 articles to familiarize you with Frank & his affiliation with the art museum. He has since passed away. His wife asked if I would inquire as to whether he is listed as an alumnus. I'm enclosing a self-addressed envelope, hoping not to inconvenience you too much.

I enjoyed the years we'd visit the art museum & have many lovely memories of that. I would like to know, if he is an alumnus. I will forward the answer to his wife.

Many Thanks

Mrs Frances Nichols

Frank Fousek's Creativity Takes Many Forms

This print titled "Nostalgic Memory," a color aquatint, won first prize in an annual May Show at the Cleveland Museum of Art. Eighty-three copies were sold from the exhibition, an all-time record at the Museum. A copy is in the Museum's permanent collection.

Can a man trained in the processes and projects of the Depression '30's, be tuned in to the sights and sounds of the '60's? If the work Frank D. Fousek (ACDEQ) has created in prints and psychadelic light shows is any index, the answer is yes.

The education of this artist started during a bleak time. But the Federal Art Project was born, and with no practical experience he became part of it. And, Mr. Fousek states, it was a good experience: "Here I worked for the better part of five (1936-41) years, enjoying every minute of it, working with some of the best artists in Cleveland. I received invaluable training and experience."

Although working in such diverse mediums as hand lithography, etching, oil, watercolor, enamelling on metal, his forte was for print making.

His prints have been exhibited at the Art Institute of Chicago, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, the Witney Museum of American Art, Corcoran Gallery of Art, and the 1939 New York World's Fair.

Do Federal Artists-type projects have a relevancy to today's needs? Probably so, he says. In our inner cities and rural backwaters there are many young people who have an ability for art. To be able to honestly create would benefit them and society.

Mr. Fousek is also an experimenter and innovator. He holds a patent for a photogram printer.

A photogram is a form of photograph usually made by laying an object on a sheet of sensitized photographic paper or a photographic plate, exposing to light, and then developing, fixing, and washing as in the case of ordinary contact prints.

Commercially the photogram printer could be used for many purposes, such as the production of prints for exhibition and framing, to produce designs for advertising illustrations, placards, menu covers, greeting cards, textiles, and murals.

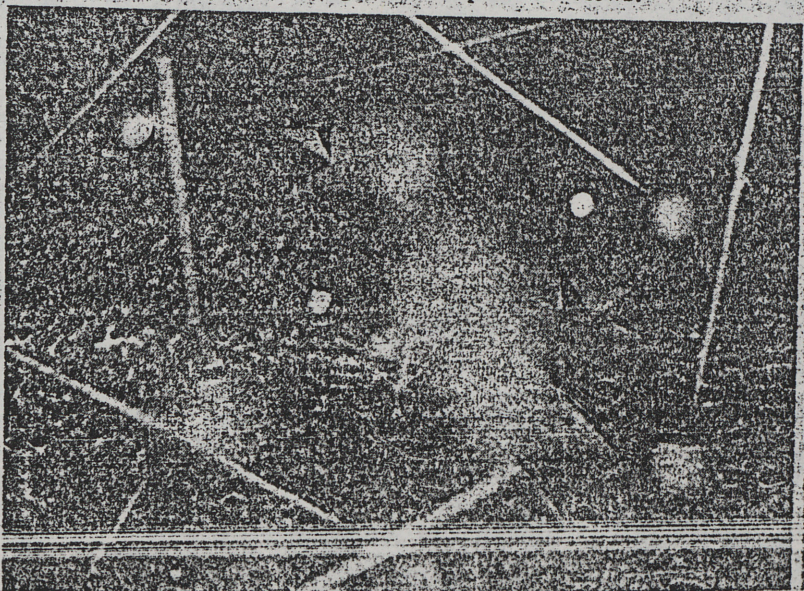

One advantage of the photogram printer is that it embodies new and unusual effects in the way of shadowing or relief when opaque or partly opaque objects are used (see illustration).

In the Fousek home art has a utilitarian function. Sixty-five per cent of the furniture is home-crafted. Many of the furnishings are remodelled or made from scratch. "I take old broken-down furniture and modernize it, and take modern furniture and antique it."

The results are novel and impressive. Some items: a desk fashioned out of a door; a desk caddy made from turpentine cans and driftwood, and a TV cabinet converted into a doll house.

Photography (examples pictured in the April 26. Orienter), enameling and serigraphs all have been practiced, by Mr. Fousek over the years.

Seven years ago, before the mod culture of psychadelic light shows and electronic music swept the scene, Mr. Fousek began his latest pursuit. What began as a Christmas star for front-yard decoration turned into his own light show. The star has evolved into a 45-minute show with 13 flashing lights, hundreds of connections, and an estimated 230,000 possible views.
